Colonial Furniture Work of the Earliest Settlers

The term colonial, as applied to early American furniture, is properly employed to indicate furniture used in the colonies before they became states. When it is remembered that the Dutch settled in New York, the English in New England and Virginia, and the French in Louisiana, it is obvious that the best colonial furniture was of three different styles, declares a writer in the Indianapolis News. There were many good cabinetmakers in the colonies, and their products were based on the current modes of their mother countries. The colonial style, as such, resulted chiefly from simplification, omission of ornament, and adaptation of the best European practice.

That a blending of styles occurred is evident in some of the chairs of early New York, in which may be found a typical Dutch fiddle-back, Jacobean legs, and Spanish feet. The Windsor chair was of English origin, but was greatly improved upon in America. The rocking-chair was an American product, but the date of its introduction is unknown.

Most important of the early cabinet work was that of Duncan Phyfe. Scot who came to New York and, after establishing trade in New York, prospered the years 1792 to 1830. His quality to that of the Hepplewhite designers. His style was a characteristic 1830—a style with very little ornament as a standard. He also decorated mahogany surfaces."

Huge Ice Castle Near South Pole

A remarkable picture of an iceberg formation, made near the South pole by Photographer Ponting, a member of Capt. Robert F. Scott's Antarctic expedition of 1912. The picture, recently found among the effects of the late Captain Ponting, never has been published before. It has an ethereal quality seldom found even in Jack Frost's artistry.

MIRIAM HOPKINS is planning to adopt another child. She adores young Michael, whom she took under her wing some time ago, and doesn't want him to grow up alone. It's nice for Michael to have such a good home, of course, and it's marvelous for the beautiful Miriam to have Michael. Matrimony has not turned out too well for her, and she's not the sort of girl who's satisfied with just being beautiful and popular and having a grand time at parties. She likes having a home, and having some one in it who loves her. And what better some one could she have than a child? So once again she's consulting the famous Chilengo nursery from which so many babies have gone to the homes of screen and radio stars.

After seeing "The Thin Man" again, recently, there's just one thing to say—that it is one of the best pictures made in years and years. Also, that though Rosalind Russell is very good indeed in "Hendersons," Myrna Loy, originally scheduled for the role, would have been ever so much better.

It looks as if "The Informer" would be acclaimed everywhere as the best picture made in 1935. The National Board of Review says it is, in case that means anything to you. Here's the board's list of the best—that is, the best American-made pictures; "Alice Adams," "Anna Karenina," "David Copperfield," "The Gilded Lily," "Les Miserables," "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Ruggles of Red Gap," and the Silly Symphony, "Who Killed Cock Robin?"

This is the sort of thing that happens in the movie world. There is a young girl named Doris Dudley—she's just eighteen, not exceptionally pretty, and with no record so far as talent is concerned. She has been in one play that never reached New York, and recently opened in another one, "The Season Changes."

But—RKO has signed her for four pictures, at $1,500 a week for the first two, and $1,750 a week for the next two.

And the answer to the question every one has asked—"Why should this girl get such a contract?" is the fact that her agent is Leland Hayward, who is the agent (and either is or is not the husband) of Katherine Hepburn.

Of course, all the newspaper articles on "mercy killers" had to lead straight to the screen; Darryl Zanuck, who likes to make pictures based on current news events, has a pictured called "The Mercy Killer" in the making right now.

Hollywood is engaged in the gruesome business of adding one and one and making three; the death of Rose Alexander's wife, and Glen Thelma Todd's unexplained demise, have made people ask; "Who'll be the third?"

Patsy Kelly, who made comedies with Thelma before she broke into bigger and better pictures, is dreadfully broken up over Thelma's death. She took a plane for New York as soon as she could; wanted to get away from Hollywood for a little while.

Jean Harlow isn't going to play glamorous bad girls on the screen any more if she can help it; she's abandoned them along with her platinum hair. She's always wanted roles in which she could really act.

Movie actors who decide to go on the stage, and head for New York to try their luck, have been sadly disillusioned; theatrical producers are perfectly willing to engage them—if the stars will put up at least part of the money for the production.

Lesson for February 2

JESUS ENLISTS HELPERS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 5:1-11, 27, 28.
GOLDEN TEXT—They forsook all and followed him.—Luke 5:11.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Finds Some Helpers.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus and the Fishermen.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Jesus Calls Us.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Our Call to Serve With Christ.

The work of Jesus had now progressed far enough to make more workers necessary. He, therefore, called and trained the helpers needed. The spread of Christianity depends upon the testimony of men and women who have come into an experiential knowledge of Jesus Christ.

I. Jesus Teaching by the Seaside (vv. 1-3).

His fame was now so widespread that the people pressed upon him to hear the Word of God. The manner and matter of his teaching gained the attention of the people, for he taught as one having authority and not as the Scribes. The people came to hear the Word of God. It is true today that people will flock to hear the preaching of the Word of God. The people will not flock to hear the preacher discourse on politics, literature, current events, and human philosophy. These people were hearing the living Word expounding the written Word.

II. The Mighty Draught of Fishes (vv. 4-7).

Before these disciples were called into the Lord's service, it was necessary that, in a most concrete way, they be shown the wisdom and power of Jesus Christ.

1. Christ's command (v. 4). It was to launch out into the deep and let down their nets for a draught of fishes. It was necessary for them to learn that if fish were to be caught they must cast their nets where the fish were.

2. The disciples' hesitant obedience (v. 5). Peter as spokesman explained that they had a night of disheartening failure. They had given themselves to a whole night of exhausting toil, with no success. While they acknowledged their failure and unwillingness to continue on the ground of their own judgment, they expressed willingness to proceed on a new ground of action; namely, "At thy word." Happy are they who are willing to go forth with unfaltering courage on the ground of Christ's commandment.

3. Reward for obedience (vv. 6, 7). By Jesus' guidance they were able to take such a draught of fishes that their nets broke and the boats were in danger of sinking. Abundant success will crown the efforts of the disciples who render implicit obedience to the commands of the Lord Jesus Christ.

III. The Disciples Called to Higher Service (vv. 8-11).

1. The effect of the miracle upon the disciples (vv. 8-10). This miracle was so manifestly the work of supernatural power that Peter acknowledged himself to be in the presence of a divine being, even expressing the fear that comes to all when brought face to face with God.

2. Their new vocation (v. 10). Jesus not only spoke words of good cheer to the disciples, but made clear to them their work in the coming years. They no longer were to spend their time in catching fish, but henceforth were to be fishers of men. Literally, they were to catch men alive. This is the exalted calling of every one who is Christ's real disciple.

3. Response to the call (v. 11). They left all and followed Jesus. They had such a marvelous demonstration of wisdom and power of Christ that they were now willing to give up their temporal interests and give themselves to the new work; that of winning men to Christ. Obedience to Christ meant not only sacrifice, but a life of fruitful service in winning souls for him.

IV. The Calling of Matthew (vv. 27, 28).

Matthew was a despised tax-gatherer. He was called from a remunerative position to give up all and follow Jesus. He, together with James, John, and Peter, gave up all to follow Jesus. He had the courage of his convictions. He made a great feast to which he invited his old friends so that he might introduce them to Jesus Christ. This act of Matthew was a result of mature deliberation, for considerable time had elapsed since his call. His experience with Jesus was so blessedly real that he desired that his friends should have a like blessing. Men and women of reputation and influence should capitalize on them for the salvation of the lost, introducing their friends to Jesus Christ. Christ is not only able to save all kinds of sinners, but to use them when saved in his work.

Studio Has 10,500 Props; Range From Armor to Gems

Each movie studio has a property department in which it stores a miscellaneous collection of nearly everything under the sun, says Popular Mechanics. In one collection there are 3,000 heavy pieces ranging from suits of armor to rugs and period bedsteads. Aside from these the studio has 7,500 "hand props" like jewelry and dishes. One room is piled high with different kinds of saddles, a third with paintings. Stands hold various types of umbrellas and walking canes. Wrist watches, necklaces and silverware are laid in cases. On the lot are different kinds of automobile bodies, replicas of ancient carts, and even a collection of small boats.

If a studio needs something that it doesn't own, the chances are the item can be rented from one of the property houses, huge warehouses stacked with equipment.

I FEEL FINE
Mothers read this:

A CONSTIPATED child is so easily straightened out, it's a pity more mothers don't know the remedy.

A liquid laxative is the answer, mothers. The answer to all your worries over constipation. A liquid can be measured. The dose can be exactly suited to any age or need. Just reduce the dose each time, until the bowels are moving of their own accord and need no help.

This treatment will succeed with any child and with any adult.

Doctors use liquid laxatives. Hospitals use the liquid form. If it is best for their use, it is best for home use. And today, there are fully a million families that will have no other kind in the house.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a doctor's prescription, now so widely known that you can get it all ready for use at any drugstore.
